COMMUNITY CHEST EXTENDS DRIVE ONE WEEK MORE

Workers Hampered by Bad Weather. Town Employees Set High Mark.

Reports from Community Chest headquarters this morning are both encouraging and discouraging, but the decision to extend the drive for another week (until February 2) is expected to wipe out the negative side of the present picture. The total amount raised to date is $18,300, while the amount necessary of attainment is $32,000.

Campaign officials believe that the drive has been hampered by unfavorable weather conditions, the cold and snow which marked the start, and the deluge which made such heavy going the last two days scheduled for the appeal; thus the decision to continue for another week.

On the encouraging side of the ledger is the fact that with returns still very incomplete, the current appeal is far ahead of last year's in donations per capita. But best of all, in the opinion of the officials, is the remarkable response from the town employees.

The town employees have set a very high mark for the rest of the town to shoot at in far exceeding last year's donations. The police department leads the list with 100% of its personnel of 50, participating with an average donation of $5.30. The school department with 206 employees is second in the list, with an average of $4.65 per capita, returns still incomplete.

Because of the extension of time during which voluntary solicitors are expected to work, there will be two more report meetings, one Monday evening, January 31, and the next, Wednesday evening, February 2, both at headquarters.

GOOFS PLAY THE GOOSE FOR ST. JEROME'S PARTY

The Goofs, none other than four representatives of the WEEL Broadcasting Company, came to Arlington last Friday evening in the role of "The Goose" at the Junior High East in celebration of St. Jerome's New Year's party.

Rev. Joseph Fitzgibbons presided during intermission for the drawing of the winner of the mahogany, cedar-lined hope chest. Ray Girardin, one of the entertainers, drew the name of Daniel A. Lyons, 22 Elmhurst road.

Lloyd G. Del Castillo, manager of the program, accompanied Mr. Girardin. Jack Bovais and Bill Elliott, the singing cop of Hampton Beach, in their skits of comedy, pathos and mirth. Bill Elliott sang several popular songs and "The Glory Road," which was followed by a skit dramatizing a television version of "One Night of Love."

Thomas J. Greehan, chairman of the entertainment committee, was assisted by Frank B. Murphy, William J. Lynds, Thomas Finnegan, William Kelley and John Considine.

Mrs. William Hatch returns Friday to her home on Jason street after spending a month with friends in Washington.

JUDGE PARMENTER'S BOOKS LIBRARY'S LARGEST GIFT

The library of Judge James P. Parmenter, will be the Robbins Library was the largest gift to that institution during the year just past, according to the librarian, Mrs. Lucinda F. Spofford.

The three thousand volumes, which the members of the library staff are now busy cataloguing include many fine editions, among them sets of Stevenson, Shakespeare, Carlyle, and Ruskin. There is also a large collection of detective stories.

Other gifts received during the year were an eight-foot screen, a Christmas tree and wreath and ten dollars for books from the Garden Club; ten dollars for books from the Junior Woman's Club; two magazines, "World Youth" and "Federation Topics," from the Woman's Club; a bust of Dante from Mrs. George Bingham, and a terrarium from Mrs. Leroy Shaw.

During the year, according to Mrs. Spofford's annual report, which she has just completed, there were 1,871 new borrowers and 17,795 people used the library. The total circulation for the year was 303,915, of which 101,735 were juvenile books.

Arlington Readers More Serious

Arlington readers, says Mrs. Spofford, read more serious books than do those in many other communities. While 204,999 works of fiction were borrowed, there were also 28,251 on sociology; 11,917, literature; 9,776, travel; 8,982, biography; 8,376, fine arts, and 7,809, useful arts.

During the year, $4,846.72 was spent for books and $418.88 for periodicals. In the ideal library, the librarian points out, seventy-five cents a year would be spent for each registered borrower. In Arlington that would be $13,346.25. There were added 3556 books and discarded, 2923, making a gain of 633.

The reference librarian was kept busier than ever. There were questions of puzzle workers to answer, and the demands of business men for technical books, and bibliographies to be made for club and study groups.

Seventy-three books were borrowed through the inter-library loan on such widely varying subjects as credit, electric welding, social service work, the meat industry, the stock market, money and banking.

The library hall proved its value. It was used 210 times during the year. The societies using it were the Garden Club, the Junior Woman's Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Middlesex Health Association, Public Welfare and Community Service Committee and Symmes Arlington Hospital, for its health lectures.

Of course, the chief event of the year was the opening of the Victoria C. Dallin Branch. Mrs. Spofford points out that East Arlington with an estimated population of 14,230 should also have a branch.

CARE WILL REDUCE PNEUMONIA CASES

A state-wide campaign against pneumonia, sponsored by the State Department of Public Health, is being carried into every municipality in the Commonwealth. Citizens of Arlington should take an active interest in this campaign. There were 33 cases of lobar pneumonia reported in town during 1937, compared with 46 in 1936, a decrease of 13. This number can and should be reduced.

Lobar pneumonia is only one form of the disease. Figures cannot be accurate for total pneumonia cases, as lobar is the only form reportable by the local Board of Health as a communicable disease. Broncho-pneumonia and hypostatic, or "old age", pneumonia are not included in the above figures. Serum is the hope of the lobar pneumonia victim. Injection of this life-saving fluid can cut the death rate twenty-five to fifty percent, and recovery from the disease is markedly more rapid.

Laboratories for determining which type of pneumonia the patient has contracted are now available in nearly eighty hospitals all over the State. There is no town in Massachusetts more than twenty miles from one of these laboratories. Distribution stations where physicians can obtain serum from the State, free of charge, are strategically placed to facilitate rapid distribution to every part of the Commonwealth.

Massachusetts wants to slash the deaths exacted by pneumonia. Last year 4,000 people in this state lost their lives to the disease. Citizens of Arlington can aid in wiping out this menace by calling their family physician if there is the slightest suspicion of pneumonia. The sooner the doctor is called and can start serum treatment, the better the chance for recovery from this ruthless disease.

ARMENIAN CITIZENS URGED TO REGISTER

The program of the social meeting of the Arlington Armenian Citizens' Club held last Sunday at Ye Lantern proved of great interest to nearly a hundred citizens who were present.

After a few words of greeting, the president, S. P. Basmajian, introduced George M. Kurzon, a lawyer, who served in the General Court in 1935 and 1936. He gave a brief history of the state legislature and told how in the olden days it was the only body of men who could try for murder and grant divorces. This power is now in the hands of the court. He emphasized the advantages and opportunities available in this country and the duty of each citizen to register and use his privilege of voting, thereby upholding and protecting the standards of the country. He believed that the younger generation should be more interested in politics and become members of citizens' clubs.

Capt. Sarkis M. Zartarian of 66 Richfield road provided a fine contrast by relating his experiences abroad where he attended the Rotary International Convention at Nice, France, last summer. He described the various countries he visited, giving their ways of living, government, recreations, customs, and religious and health institutions.

Town Clerk Earl A. Ryder, who was present, was called upon to say a few words.

Ardashes Der Ananian amused those present with his humorous selections. The Basmajian Sisters, Askounous and Elizabeth, and the Ananian children rendered selections on the violin and piano.

Refreshments were served during the social period that followed.

VARIA CLUB MEETS WITH MISS SMITH

At the home of Miss Marion Smith, Waverly street, Monday evening, a regular meeting of the Varia Study Club was held. The vice president, Miss Mildred Fitch, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. William Homer, Jr. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Stanley Gove read a paper on "Marriage and Funeral Customs of Other Lands" and Miss Bernadine Brooks read one on "Holidays of the Nations." Both were excellent and thoroughly enjoyed by the members. Refreshments were served during a social hour.

The next meeting will be held February 14 at the home of Mrs. John Fuller, 337 Park avenue. The guest speaker will be Laurence E. Kiely of the Massachusetts Department of Correction, who will speak on "The Parole System."

URGES EXTENSION TRAINING IN LETTER TO STUDEBAKER

In a letter sent this week to Dr. J. W. Studebaker, Commissioner of Education, Dept. of Interior, Washington, D. C., Chief Daniel B. Tierney as president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs outlined the purpose and necessity of training members of municipal fire departments.

Extension training, says Chief Tierney in this letter, is warranted because the requirements of professional firemen are fully as high as those of workmen in any of the skilled trades. Inexperienced firemen are hazards both to themselves and to their associates and also are expensive to the public in the toll of life and damage to property.

Fire fighting, being legally recognized as a governmental function is entitled to government help to make it more efficient. Good training, to the extent in which it results in more efficient fire departments, will result in reduction of loss of production and employment in industries.

There are being developed constantly new methods of work in the fire service and instruction in these new developments is vital to competent fire fighting and protection. For example, two decades ago salvage work by municipal departments was unheard of, but within the past decade this practice has been growing rapidly in the larger departments and is now beginning to spread to smaller departments. The losses at many fires have been reduced more than 50% by protecting merchandise and other contents of buildings against water damage by the use of salvage covers, and by dewatering the buildings after fire fighting operations have been completed.

"In connection with major disasters," the chief continues, "mutual aid systems are being devised whereby aid may be provided the community in trouble by neighboring fire departments. Full cooperation between neighboring departments can be secured only if the departments perform operations in a like manner."

In his appeal to Dr. Studebaker, the chief requests of the Federal Board for Vocational Education three things:—(1) the assistance of representatives of the states and of fire departments in the organization of training plans for fire department personnel, (2) that information be supplied to the states and to officers of fire departments concerning training, the use of apparatus and equipment, etc., and (3) that information of educational value in connection with the whole program of education and training of fire department personnel be compiled and distributed.

To aid in accomplishing the program, it was recommended that two committees be formed: an Advisory Committee and a Cooperating Committee. An agent would be appointed to head the Special Educational Service.

A few of the reasons for the need of Federal Aid in Vocational Training of the Fire Service are the great national fire loss, the human life loss; the fact that there is no pre-employment training in the fire service so men must learn on the job; that volunteer firemen, numbering 80% of the fire force of this country, have no organized training program, so it is in the smaller communities that the fire loss ratios are highest; and industrial advance is continually creating new hazards to the fire service and to the public that must be combated by education.

Chief Tierney has been assured that the plan will meet with approval, and as soon as word is received from Dr. Studebaker the Brookline chief and Chief Tierney will leave for Washington to make final arrangements.

Carl Everberg, chairman of the membership committee of the local church, held a preliminary meeting of his team captains at his home Monday evening. Plans were outlined for an enthusiastic drive to win the contest for the Arlington church. A captain was appointed for each precinct in the town. They are: 1. Kempton Lunna; 2. George Leslie; 3. J. Edward Kimball; 4. John Easton; 5. E. N. Clarke; 6. C. E. Reay; 7. Otis Handy; 8. George I. Pierce; 9. C. A. Armitage; 10. E. P. Whitman; 11. George Ewe; 12. Karl Place; 13. B. L. Shields; 14. E. T. Blanchard.

The publicity committee—Gardner Goss, chairman; Walter Hellman, and Arthur Littlefield—has already outlined a program that will not only help to win over the Lexington class, but also let the people of Arlington know that there is a live wire Men's Bible and Social Class at the First Baptist Church.

At an enthusiastic pre-contest meeting held in the Men's Class room Tuesday night, the slogan was adopted, "Beat Lexington," and plans were made to invite every man in Arlington not already connected with any other church to attend this constantly growing class of men, led by Rev. Grady Feagan as teacher, and Malcolm Griffin as president.

Marriage REED — SODERQUIST

Thelma Frances Soderquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Edwin Soderquist of 30 Crescent Hill avenue, became the bride of Haskell W. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Reed of 72 Lowell street, Lexington, Saturday evening, in the Park Ave. Congregational Church. The double ring candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Clifford O. Simpson.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white chiffon velvet with an overskirt of silk tulle, a full train of tulle appliqued with bow-knots of velvet, a hip length tulle veil and a short face veil draped from a Juliet cap of pearls. Her wrist and shower bouquet was of orchids, gardenias, and lilies of the valley.

Miriam Stevens, schoolmate of the bride, was maid of honor, and Marjorie Reed, youngest sister of the groom, was the flower girl. Both carried out the all-white color scheme by wearing white taffeta with overskirts of tulle, the maid of honor carrying violets and the flower girl, an old-fashioned bouquet of pale lavender. Mrs. Soderquist was gowned in rose velvet, while Mrs. Reed, the groom's mother, wore purple velvet.

Lawrence B. Reed, brother of the groom, a freshman at Boston University, was best man. Among the ushers were Joseph Busa, Harvey Robinson, a senior at Harvard; John Hamm, and Stanley Wharton.

Mrs. Adrian Robinson was at the organ. Ruth Olive sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

The church was attractively decorated with candles and Easter lilies placed against a background of evergreens.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Reed home, the home of the groom's parents, a colonial farm house over 150 years old. Young people from Arlington and Lexington, as well as college chums, numbering about 150, were guests at the reception. In the dining room, which was decorated with spring flowers, refreshments were served by Lois Craig, Simmons, 38; Marjorie Williams, Sargent, 40; Darthea Spofford, Burdett; Martha Taudien, Applied Arts, 39, and Virginia Pomroy, all of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Reed attended summer classes at the Charles School, Cambridge, after graduating from Arlington High, and was a junior at Tufts. She is a member of the Arlington Junior Woman's Club and is a Rainbow Girl. Mr. Reed, also a junior at Tufts, prepared at New Hampton, New Hampshire.

After a wedding trip to northern New Hampshire for winter sports, Mr. and Mrs. Reed will be at home at 67 Lowell street.

SACHEM COUNCIL HOLDS LARGEST ANNUAL MEETING

The day's events began with the annual business meeting at 3 p. m., with President Wm. H. Eckert of Watertown in the chair. These officers were re-elected: President, Wm. H. Eckert; vice-presidents, George B. C. Rugg of Arlington and George M. Dimond of Bedford; scout commissioner, Franklin P. Hawkes of Arlington. New officers elected were: vice-president, Arthur A. Dodge of Arlington; and treasurer, Russell P. Wise of Arlington.

The following chairmen of Council committees were appointed by President Eckert: Troop Program, Tracy W. Ames, Lexington; Advisory, Dr. Walter T. Garfield, Belmont; Personnel, Erail L. Sawyer, Watertown; Organization, Eric L. Johnson, Watertown; Public Relations, Earle F. Baird, Waltham.

During the afternoon scores of Scouters visited the fine exhibit of camping equipment made by the Scouts under the direction of Sachem Council Camping Service, with George Greenlaw in charge. This exhibit so impressed Regional Scout Executive Don W. Moyer, that he has asked the Council to send it to the Regional Conference at Worcester on April 21st.

President Eckert's Report

At 6:30 came the banquet. President Eckert in a delightful little speech welcomed those present and then proceeded to give an account of his stewardship during the past year. He showed how a year ago the Council was struggling under a debt of $3,500; today it is free of all obligations and has money in the bank; how a year ago the Council had 1258 Scouts and 425 leaders; today it has 1367 Scouts and an increase of 109 and 448 leaders, a gain of 23. He then paid his respects to the men who had been associated with him in the work.

No sooner had President Eckert introduced Leroy Sweeney of Waltham as toastmaster than he was given a unique but roof-raising tribute "for getting the Council out of the red," started by Vice-President Rugg and participated in by 20 or more Scouters, for nearly ten minutes.

When the tumult and the shouting had died down, Toastmaster Sweeney introduced as the first speaker, Scout Commissioner Franklin P. Hawkes, who gave an eloquent talk on Scouting which held the close attention of everyone present.

The next speaker was Scout Executive Stanley S. (Jack) Merrell who was given a great ovation. He outlined the program for the coming year as arranged by the staff of commissioners and paid high respect to the men of the Council. He next introduced 12-year-old Richard Murphy of Troop 1, Arlington, the first boy to enroll as a Scout in 1938. Scout Richard was forced to stand on a chair to be seen. He accepted the applause with a winning smile.

Mr. Merrell then gave recognition to the 6 twenty-year Troops of the Council—Troops 1 of First Universalist Church, Arlington; 5, Junior High School West, P. T. A., Arlington; 6, First Baptist Church, Arlington; 31, Group of Citizens, Concord; 32, Church of the Good Shepherd, Watertown; and 34, Phillips Congregational Church Men's Club, Watertown.

Former Woburn Boy Makes Good in Arlington

A little over three years ago a slight gangling youngster of natural basketball ability reported to Henry Hogmel who was then the basketball coach at Arlington in place of Bill Lowder. He was an unheralded youth who had just transferred from Woburn and of whom not much was known. Today that same lad, "Mush" Corbett, has gained quite a reputation as a basketball player. A short time ago he took his quintet to Woburn and the whole town awaited his coming. Quoting from the Woburn Daily Times, the following was said about this fine lad:

"A former Woburn boy, James 'Mush' Corbett, or what have you Corbett, will be captaining Arlington High's juggernaut which invades Woburn tonight for a basketball tiff with the Woburn High School basketball team at the local high school gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock."

Corbett played basketball with the only representative Woburn Junior High basketball team which existed several years back and as a Sophomore saw considerable service as guard on the Woburn varsity team. At the close of his sophomore year here at Woburn he transferred to Arlington, where he has been Arlington's foremost forward and scorer for two seasons. This season, thus far has been his best, and in three games to date has been averaging fifteen points per game.

OVERTIME PERIOD GIVES WALTHAM QUINTET VICTORY

Score 40 to 35 in Local Gym. High School Sinks Further into League Cellar.

Arlington sunk itself further into the cellar of the Suburban League last Tuesday at the High School as a result of their defeat at the hands of Waltham, by a score of 40 to 35. This is Arlington's second league defeat in one week.

As in the Rindge game, Arlington took an early lead and kept it for the greater part of the game. "Mush" Corbett, the Arlington ace, was very well covered and was able to score only 6 points. In covering Corbett, Waltham disregarded Marty Powers, who romped to the tune of 17 points. This was an extremely rough game, with Arthur Gore blowing no less than 34 fouls. Two Arlington players, Corbett and Mike Burke, were ousted from the game, sadly crippling their team. The local quintet had a six-point lead early in the fourth period when Corbett, the first Arlington man to leave the game, took his shower.

Marty Powers had already shot his bolt as far as scoring went, and with Corbett out, no one was there to take his place. Waltham caught up with Arlington and soon passed them with a one-point lead, 33 to 32. Fighting desperately to equalize, Cashman was successful in drawing a foul and he sunk it just five seconds before the whistle blew.

Handicapped by the loss of their two veterans, Arlington was very quick to get into difficulty in the three-minute overtime period. Waltham rolled up a basket and the tap-off and got two more and a foul shot while Arlington was only able to score one for the whole period.

Weekly Boost: To the Rindge basketball coach and his sportsmanship at the game. When Powers of Arlington got set to take his shots that meant the game, the Tech instructor jumped to his feet and cleared the end of the floor where some boys had gathered, hoping to unnerve Powers' attempt at the foul shot.

The very next day at the Rindge-Arlington hockey game, "Sly" Lyons was forced to leave the ice and it was two Rindge players that carried him off, "Fishy" Dumond and Bob Hall.

Your columnist had the pleasure of meeting these same two lads at the court game Friday and they highly praise all Arlington teams.

Straight dope from the sporting circles around town has it that Freddie Weiner is "on his way out" as Royals' coach. He was a good man! (once).

Bill Lowder should start a contest amongst his boys to see who can commit the least number of fouls. It was fouling that cost them the game Tuesday.

When Corbett was disqualified for fouls, the team went to pieces, but when Burke went out, that was the last straw!

Seems as though the pucksters will be sporting new helmets Saturday. Isn't that what you would call locking the barn after the horse has been stolen, or sump'n.

Weekly Knock: To the Dressing Room Referees like J. J. who sit down and tell the poor, exhausted referees of the game what they did wrong! You will always find that these same blowhards used to ref now and then, but after you hit the Catholic League in Greater Boston, there is nothing worse.

The Town Employees' Association held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in V. F. W. Hall. Henry Fenocchetti presided. Buttons for the month were given out by the financial secretary.

JOHNNY KELLEY GETS TWO PLACES ON ALL-AMERICAN

Johnny Kelley, Arlington's Olympic representative and veteran distance runner, has been awarded two places on the 1938 All-American track and field team chosen Monday by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the national A. U. Kelley was named for the 10,000 meter and the 25,000 meter runs. Only one other athlete—Irvyng Foltwarsky, weight-thrower—was selected for two places.

Rindge Tech Beats H. S. by 41 to 40

It was a foul shot that spelled a 41 to 40 defeat against Arlington last Friday at the Rindge Tech gym. Despite the 30 points scored by Powers and Corbett, and the general all-around fine floor play shown by the local lads, they were unable to cope with the final pressure staged by Rindge. Arlington led almost all of the way and had a considerable lead up until the last few minutes.

Scoring was at an even pitch in the opening period. Several times Arlington would seem to slacken speed as Rindge would pass through the Arlington defense, but Corbett and Powers alternated on the scoring and were able to make Rindge hold its distance. The score was deadlocked at 9-all at the end of the first period.

The second period got under way with Rindge popping in two fast baskets and a like number of goals to take a lead and Arlington looked doomed. Rindge had shot its bolt in this period as far as scoring was concerned and Arlington went to town. Mike Burke "set-up" several baskets for the Powers-Corbett combination. On the last of these, the Technicians called time-out.

During their one-minute rest they had apparently mapped out a new plan of attack but their ideas went for naught because when they attempted to pass out from underneath their own basket, Corbett leaped high to intercept and then dribbled in for the tally. With their spirit broken, Rindge was very lucky indeed that the score did not read more than 22 to 18 for Arlington at the half time.

The Score at 40 to 40

Arlington had increased their lead from four to eight points before the third period was many seconds old and held it so until there were only three minutes left in the final quarter. A one-handed shot from the corner to bring the score up to 40 to 34 in favor of Arlington brought about Captain Corbett's request for time out. Forgetta of Rindge sank two long shots after the breather and Corbett called for time again as one minute and forty-five seconds remained. Arlington fought desperately to hold on to the ball but they were overwhelmed and once again Forgetta tallied for Rindge to tie the score at 40-40. To add to Arlington dismay he was fouled on the shot and referee Gore awarded him a free try that was promptly swished.

An avalanche of Arlington athletes swept down the floor in an attempt to score in the twenty-six seconds that remained and their efforts were only momentarily rewarded; Powers had been made a present of a Rindge foul. Pressure-nervousness kept the first toss out of the basket and the chance to win was gone. Arlington's only hope remained in Powers' tying the game with the last shot but the ball only rolled around the edge of the hoop and did no damage. Rindge gained possession after the shot and remained in that position until the whistle blew for the end.

Led by "Twinkle" Glennon the Arlington second team did their part to hold up the Menotomy honor, when they edged the Rindge second by a score of 22 to 20. The winning score came as the whistle for the end of the game sounded. Glennon scored this, as well as two other baskets to bring Arlington from behind to win.

RINDGE SPOILS LOCALS' BID FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

"Fishy" Dumond, diminutive Rindge hockey ace, shattered all Arlington visions of a league championship last Saturday at the Garden, when he sunk a shot to give Rindge a 2 to 1 edge over Arlington. Young Dumond has been the mainstay of the Rindge squad all season and came through in proper style in the closing seconds to beat his chums from Arlington. This was one of the best exhibitions of schoolboy hockey at the Garden this year. A clean sportsmanlike attitude prevailed through the game, frequented by an occasional stiff, hard, but legal body check. Arlington and Rindge have always been hockey rivals but that rivalry is of the friendliest type.

An exciting, but scoreless first period was witnessed by 3000 fans eager to see Rindge knocked off the top of the heap and thereby encourage more competition for the championship. Both teams struggled furiously to draw the first blood, with Arlington forced to play more defensively than offensively. It was only the fine, split-second action on the part of Jack Carney, Arlington stringman, that prevented a lot of Cambridge scores.

Rindge continued its threatening barrage at the Arlington goalie and as the clock ticked 9:36, Leger buried the puck after a pass-out from Dumond behind the net who had soloed down the ice only to overskate the net. The tables were turned for the remainder of the period and this time Rindge was on the defensive edge.

Arlington came back strong in the final period and pushed Rindge all over the ice. "Sly" Lyons was forced to leave the game when he received a three-stitch wound over the left eye when he was hit with a flying puck. Time was restored and at just about this time "Lindy" Blanchard came sliding down the left hand board and let drive. The puck hit the goal amidsts, then glanced off his pads and into the net for Arlington's only score. Neither coach wanted to substitute their first lines because of the rapidly approaching bell, and the players were rather exhausted; so quite a few shoe-tying requests were made and the officials cheerfully agreed. It was large Rob Hall that set up Rindge's winning goal for Dumond. Hall shot a scorcher from the blue line and Carney just barely dropped in time, but Dumond raced in and drove it over Carney's head into the net as 41 seconds remained. The line-up:

Associates Lead K. of C. Bowlers

At the conclusion of the 12th weekly meeting of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League, William O'Connor, Secretary of the league, posted the results of the bowling thus far. The league, although still in its freshman year, has made a very good showing as far as competition goes.

The Associates are in the lead, but before this season is over they will have a hard job on their hands in guarding their supremacy from both the Rookies and the Ryans. The Rookies have on their roster, Tommy O'Keefe, who is tied with Mike Seretto for the high single string of 130. This same Seretto is the sole possessor of the three-string total mark to date with his 340.

Last Week's Bowling

Despite George Dolan's effort of 122 in the high single string for the night in the Knights of Columbus bowling league last Wednesday evening, his teammates dropped four points to the Bees. For the second successive week comparatively low scores were rolled.

High School Makes Music For Woman's Club

The Arlington Woman's Club met January 20 with the president, Mrs. L. E. A. Smith in the chair. There was the usual business. As the meeting was in charge of the Education Committee, the Superintendent of Schools, Joseph S. Keating was a guest and spoke briefly.

Music was furnished by the High School, with a brief introductory talk by Miss Ethelwyn Wardle. First, the Girls' Glee Club, which received the highest rating in the Massachusetts and New England Music Festivals, sang two numbers. Then there were piano selections by Hermine Hall, winner of the 1937 Club Scholarship, after which four original compositions were performed. These were all very interesting and showed the unusual training that the High School gives in its music department.

Mrs. George I. Savage introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Professor F. Alexander Magoun, head of the Department of Human Relations at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who spoke on "The Art of Human Relations." Mr. Magoun was a very fluent speaker and gave much food for thought. He told what the different eras in the world's history have brought forth and said that in the 20th Century progress would be made in Human Relations. The close proximity in which we live makes it necessary for us to learn to get along together. Mr. Magoun gave one of the best talks which the club has had for some time.

Blind Circle

Under the direction of Flora Youngken, chairman, the Juniors and members themselves cooperated to make a very interesting meeting. The cast of the one-act play to be entered in competition with other junior clubs in the State Drama Contest, presented to the Circle their production, "Mrs. Harper's Bazaar," an amusing farce. Two Blind Circle members contributed to the entertainment a banjo solo and a piano solo, and the entire group joined in the group singing.

Margaret Keefe was appointed Social Chairman of the Arlington Junior Woman's Club for the balance of the club year to succeed Janet Blanchard, who resigned this position.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Nils G. Anderson, Arlington of G. O. ANDERSON & SONS

Go over your garden tools, oil them, and check up on what others you may need.

Inspect all your bulbs in storage: cannas, dahlias, gladioli. Best to carry over in a moderately cool, dark place.

Why not look over your hot bed sashes, repair leaky places. Look into electrical heating too—it is most interesting.

There are many interesting seed novelties coming out this year. All easy to grow—will call your attention to the best a little later.

Test your left-over seeds between two sheets of wet blotting paper. It's interesting and instructive.

Your wood ashes makes an excellent garden fertilizer.

Garden furniture and tools should be gone over and gotten ready for spring work.

Dog-repellent has been found effective in keeping squirrels away from rustic furniture.

Keep bringing a few bulbs in to have a succession of flowers.

Lily-of-the-valley can be forced in about three weeks. Needs a dark, warm place to start.

What Do You Know About Health?

By FISHER BROWN and NAT FALK

Answers: 1. The Romans followed the strange custom of driving nails into cottage walls because they considered the procedure a sure antidote against plagues.

2. That heaping tablespoons of sulphur and molasses will cure Spring Fever. They won't. Anyone who has a let-down feeling these Spring days needs such common-sense measures as plenty of outdoor exercise, plenty of milk, fruits and vegetables, at least eight hours sleep every night and that periodic visit to the doctor.

3. Da Vinci, one of the great artists and scientists of the Italian Renaissance, was the founder of physiologic anatomy. His impromptu sketches—over 750 of them—made beside the dissected subject, are startlingly modern in their accuracy and display of physiologic knowledge. He was the originator of cross-sectional anatomy.

HEADING THE PROCESSION

Once more Arlington leads the procession.

In another column there appears a summary of a letter which Daniel B. Tierney, chief of the Arlington Fire Department, has sent to Commissioner Studebaker of the Federal Education Department, urging federal support for the establishment of uniform training schools for firemen throughout the country.

Chief Tierney says that credit for this idea should go to Chief Ralph Scott of Los Angeles—the plan was his.

However, the first of such training schools was held in Arlington in 1933. It was Chief Tierney's idea and was an example of the efficiency with which the Arlington Fire Department is run.

Since 1933, approximately 433 men from twenty-nine cities and towns have received certificates from this Arlington zone center of training.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

"We Who Make Whiskey Say Drinking and Driving Do Not Mix."

The Governor's Highway Safety Committee quotes this expert testimony from the advertisement of one of the leading whiskey distillers.

The advertisement continues:

"This statement may seem to work directly against our self-interest. But actually it does not. It is very much to our self-interest to see that the privilege of drinking is not abused. It is to our interest to see that liquor is consumed as it should be consumed. Neither whiskey nor any other alcoholic liquor has any place at the wheel of an automobile. Drinking and driving do not mix. This conviction must be shared by everyone who reads the newspapers and by every thinking person who drives a car. Therefore we invite you—in the interest of public safety—to join us in the crusade for safer, saner driving. If you expect to be at the wheel of a motor car, we say to you: 'Think before you drink! Don't drink before you drive!'"

MAY THOSE EIGHT YEARS BE HAPPY

Through a typographical error in the last issue of the Advocate, the year of the birth of William H. Bradley, recently retired agent of the Board of Health, was given as 1860. It should have been 1868.

We return to Mr. Bradley with apologies the eight years we took from him. We hope they will be happy ones and that he will enjoy the leisure which through his efficient service to the town, he has so well earned.

Briefs

A "human lost-and-found department" has been established in China to help tens of thousands of refugees find the relatives from whom they have been separated by the war with Japan. Men, women and children roam the highways, searching for shelter and safety. But the greater part of them are searching for something even dearer—lost wives, husbands, children and other relatives.

Tokyo found a new way to declare an undeclared war by announcing withdrawal of recognition of the Chinese Government, the establishment of a new Government to replace that of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, and the recalling of its Ambassador.

Washington is relieved when the undeclared war remains undeclared, since the decision saves the face of America's Neutrality Act and permits continuance of trade relations with the East favorable to Chinese resistance.

Japan is reported to be trying to raise $50,000,000 credit in New York for purchase of machinery.

Eighteen months of Spanish conflict—about 1,000,000 men are in arms and about 2,000,000 have thus far been killed or injured. Premier Negrin says: "The only way to end this war is with the unconditional surrender of the rebels and the complete withdrawal of all foreign soldiers from our soil."

France is weathering another political crisis and some outside observers believe it is a real one this time. The American ambassador, Wm. C. Bullitt, took a covert fling at France's totalitarian neighbor by criticizing "clowns" who take joy in bombing helpless populations—meaning Premier Mussolini's son.

The French Government dispatched a protest to the Spanish Insurgent regime Monday against the dropping of bombs on French territory and sent anti-aircraft and artillery batteries toward the affected frontier.

David Lloyd George said Monday that the future of human liberty for many generations to come depends on what the democratic powers do together.

America's business recession is doing two good things—it is forcing Government to take cognizance of the plight of business, and prompting business to consider the problems of government.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt calls small business men to the White House for a conference following talks with big industrial leaders of the Nation; the names being picked at random from those who have written the President seeking a hearing.

During the last election campaign, Joseph P. Kennedy wrote a telling book, "Why I am for Roosevelt." In Boston, prior to his keynote speech for the city's welfare fund, he told the press that he was still for Roosevelt. He believes the President is cleaning up a mess no one else can and will clean up.

Wm. J. Cameron of the Ford Motor Company declared in a radio address Sunday night that legislation aimed at "big" industry will strike "small" industry also. The two, he said, cannot be separated as they depend upon one another. "Suppose you do get Ford. Will that help these others?" he asked.

The establishment of 26 new boys' clubs, bringing an increased enrollment of approximately 5,000 youths, was achieved during 1937 by the Boys' Clubs of America through providing recreational programs in the larger cities of the United States, according to organization headquarters in New York.

Provide facilities for recreation, discover desired vocations, build character, and do it all under skilled direction—that's how to combat the causes of crime and solve the problem of underprivileged youth, according to former President Hoover in one of his appearances in behalf of the National Association of Boys' Clubs.

Hundreds of impoverished children in the Southern mountains travel long distances to attend school without luncheon and without money for food, according to a survey by the Save the Children Fund—tooth brushes are needed by 592, soap by 357, shoes by 171, and warm clothing for 354.

G. H. Smith of New York, reputedly the "ghost writer" of dozens of Yale, Harvard and Princeton theses and theses, boasts that he has received indirectly more than 90 degrees of philosophy and master of arts as the result of his activities.

Wool, upon which the commerce of the port of Boston leans so heavily for its volume and values, took an upward spurt last week, Owen P. McKenna, Acting Collector of the Port, revealed. The wool receipts were substantially higher than the previous week, but still far below the peak levels of a year ago this time.

Social security expenses far exceed income from taxes expected to finance them.

PROGRESS KEYNOTE OF UNIVERSALIST MEETING

Not for some time have the members of the First Universalist Society gone home from an annual meeting with a feeling of elation over the affairs of the parish. Frequent applause punctuated their 97th annual meeting last Thursday evening as they listened to the reports of officers and auxiliaries, witnessed a friendly change of leadership and heard well developed plans for church management and activities in the year ahead.

A good start was made toward this happy result when the retiring treasurer, Frank N. Bott, reported that the 1937 budget had been balanced despite the severe handicap of a five hundred dollar deficit at the beginning of the year. Approval was given to a conservative budget for 1938 which Ernest Hessel-tine, Jr., presented on behalf of the finance committee.

The retiring president, James F. Younie, called for reports of the minister, church officials and the various organizations. Rev. Robert M. Rice mentioned the possibility of this church being host to the state convention of Universalists in the centennial year 1941. An increase of nearly 20% in the average attendance at Sunday worship was the highlight of Barbara Shinn's report as registrar. The big advance in attendance during the "Fill-the-pews Campaign" was shown by a chart which Mr. Rice exhibited. A net income of $810 from "Holiday Hall" was reported by R. H. Stearns.

Income Increase Expected

James O. Holt, A. Ingham Bicknell and Frederick A. Carlton, trustees of the trust funds, expect an increase in the income this year. The funds have been augmented by the Arthur W. Peirce legacy of two thousand dollars. Howard Hawkins and L. Brooks Saville, auditors, certified that the financial accounts were correct.

That the Universalist Church is not just a building where people meet once a week but is really an aggregation of folks of all ages working with real toward constructive ends was indicated in the series of reports which began with that of the church school read by Edith N. Winn. Katharine Yerrinton read the report of the Committee of Religious Education. Mrs. Arthur Wyman that of the Samaritan Society. Florence Smith that of the Mission Circle. Howard Dawes made an oral review of the Men's Club year. The report of the Patterson Fellowship was presented by R. F. Needham and Robert L. Hunt reported the varied activities of Troop One, Boy Scouts. All these accounts of stewardship were received with enthusiasm.

A new chapter in the Society's history was begun by the election of the following board of trustees: Raymond H. Stearns, 11 Pine Ridge road, president; Howard Hawkins, 58 Schuette street, treasurer; Ernest Hessel-tine, Jr., 38 Russell street, collector; Mrs. Alice Jones, 50 Florence avenue, clerk; Paul M. White, 26 Cliff street, Frank M. Harwood, 104 Overlook road, Mrs. Marjorie Shinn, 74 Florence avenue, and Charles R. Duhig, 35 Johnson road. The deacons and deaconesses are Edward W. Goodwin, James F. Younie, Ernest W. Davis, Warren J. Guild, Mrs. Lettice Llewellyn and Mrs. Lester W. Collins. Barbara Shinn was re-elected registrar. Katharine Yerrinton, Mrs. Clarence L. Dempsey and R. F. Needham continue as the Religious Education Committee. A. Ingham Bicknell was elected to another three-year term as trustee of the trust funds.

Loyal Services Praised

For his loyal services and personal sacrifice in the interests of the society as president of the trustees during four difficult years, James F. Younie was highly praised by E. W. Davis, chairman of the nominating committee, and the members showed their appreciation by prolonged applause. Similar appreciation was shown to Mrs. Marion Peirce and Frank N. Bott who also retired from the board.

Accepting the gavel after a gracious speech to his predecessor, Mr. Stearns began his administration in an unprecedented manner by appointing committee heads and announcing a series of parish affairs to take place in the next four months. Frank M. Harwood will serve as chairman of the house committee, Warren J. Guild, head usher; James F. Younie, hospitality; Howard H. Dawes, annual fair; R. F. Needham, publicity. A representative "ways and means" committee is composed of Mrs. Ruth Harwood, Mrs. Grace Belyea, Edith N. Winn, H. H. Dawes, R. F. Needham, and R. H. Stearns, chairman.

Coming Events

Following a parish supper Friday, February 11, Walter K. Queen, chief engineer of the second Byrd Antarctic Expedition, will exhibit motion pictures of this great adventure. A card party is scheduled for Saturday, February 26. On March 11 there will be a "family night" supper and entertainment. The Patterson Fellowship will present a play April 29. The regular May Luncheon will take place May 11 and the Men's Club will sponsor an entertainment during that month.

As a means of controlling the income and expense of the Society, Mr. Stearns exhibited a large chart which he and Mr. Hessel-tine had made. Because the board of trustees is anxious to get suggestions and constructive criticism a box to receive such communications has been placed in the front vestibule.

The evening began with a baked bean supper prepared by Harriet Holt, Edith N. Winn, Mrs. Marion Peirce and Mrs. Lettice Llewellyn and served to fifty people in cafeteria style.

SCRAMBLED TITLES FOR CHILDREN AT JUNIOR LIBRARY

When the junior high schools are out, the children gather about the two bulletin boards in the children's room of the Robbins Library where Mrs. Thelma Montague, the librarian, has posted thirty-six book jackets with "scrambled" titles underneath.

Those who unscramble the most titles during the two weeks the contest is on will be declared winners. There will be an elimination contest or contests until there is one winner. For this one there may be a prize. If there is, it will be a surprise.

"YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER" AT PLYMOUTH THEATRE

After a run of twelve months, The New York Company of "Yes, My Darling Daughter," one of the most successful comedies of the past few seasons is now being presented at the Plymouth Theatre for a limited engagement, by Alfred de Ligré, Jr., one of Broadway's most notable producer-directors.

Heading the cast is Lucile Watson, noted American star remembered for her performances in "Prelude to Exile," "Pride and Prejudice," "Post Road," "No More Ladies," "You and I," etc. Prominent in the cast will be Violet Heming, glamorous star of stage and screen last seen here in "The Shining Hour" and in "There's Always Juliet," and Nicholas Joy, an old favorite of Boston theatregoers. Also in the company will be Haila Stoddard in the role of the darling daughter, Charles Bryant, Howard Ferguson and Shirley Gregory.

Although its three acts are packed with comic scenes, "Yes, My Darling Daughter" owes its success not alone to its hilarity, but to the serious comment on current morals which underlies the story. A banker's daughter, learning that her sweetheart is about to go to Europe for two years, plans to spend the week-end with him. Her mother, who in her youth had been a leader in the feminist movement, attempts to frustrate the plan. The daughter, in what is said to be at the same time one of the funniest and yet most moving scenes of recent years, informs her mother that she knows that she had once participated in a flashing love affair. The mother, impressed by the girl's sincerity and the high-minded approach to romance, permits her to depart, and finds herself in hot water with the conventional father.

Mark Reed, who wrote "Petticoat Fever," a successful comedy of two seasons ago, is the author of "Yes, My Darling Daughter."

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 30.

The Golden Text is "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let love be with dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another" (Romans 12:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Who is it that demands our obedience? He who, in the language of Scripture, 'doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay His hand, or say unto Him, What doest Thou?'"

Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty" (pp. 256, 183).

This week, the Arlington Citizens' Committee begins its active work in the selection of qualified candidates for public office. All candidates who are desirous of the endorsement should contact T. Gordon Smith of 30 Cliff street, either by letter or telephone. Others on the qualification committee who may be contacted are Mortimer Wells, Archibald C. Loveys, Mrs. Charles A. Alden, Charles A. The Citizens Committee is a non-partisan organization made up of public-spirited men and women, from all sections of the town. Its aims and objects are to maintain a high standard of honesty and efficiency in the conduct of the town's governmental affairs by endorsing and assisting in the election of such candidates as will insure the maintenance of efficient and honest operation of the Town Boards and Departments, also to promote civic interests among the citizens. They solicit the support and co-operation of all citizens who are in agreement with these aims and objects. Those who wish to become members should write or call Mr. Charles A. Farrow of 198 Highland avenue, the corresponding secretary.

The headquarters of the committee is at 801 Massachusetts avenue, near Bartlett avenue.

The play is about an English family which is shipwrecked on a desert island. While this aristocratic family is there, the butler, Crichton, takes over the command, due to his calmness. He plans to marry the beautiful daughter, but the family is rescued before the marriage. They go back to England, and the family resumes its peaceful existence. Crichton is once more the obedient butler.

CONGRATULATES TOWN MEETING ON ECONOMY

ey for an elaborate and entirely unnecessary ultra-celebration of Patriots' Day, April 19th.

The few hundred dollars usually appropriated for this observance will probably be voted at the regular meetings in March and should, if properly spent, provide for as much of a celebration as a $35.60 tax rate on our present rather high property valuations will warrant.

The people who are contributing the money, through taxes, for carrying on the business of the town will, I am sure, greatly appreciate this action by a majority of the Town Meeting membership and will look forward hopefully to like action on unnecessary appropriations at our annual meeting, whether asked for by town officials or by other interested groups.

It is encouraging to see that a majority of our Town Meeting members realize that taxes are taking altogether too large a part of our earnings and are willing to refuse unnecessary appropriations.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)
CHARLES M. SAWYER,
President

Arlington Tax Association

JOINT BOARD VOTES TO BUILD NINE STREETS

part, among whom were Dorothy Leary, lovely soft shoe dancer; Lorraine Martin, charming vocalist and tapper; Bob Dolan, accomplished tap dancer; Lena Barry, lady of tap fame; Mary Brisbois, child contortionist; Lynette Ann O'Brien, 4 years old, who broadcast over WCOP last Saturday afternoon on the Jefferson Club program; Virginia Blanchette, whirlwind tapper; and Peggy Sweeney, lovely toe dancer.

Miss Hallisey appeared in a delightful number at the close of the program.

Mrs. Henry E. Gamewater of 27 Medford street was hurt when she fell on a sidewalk in North Cambridge.

HEIGHTS STUDY CLUB SCHOLARSHIP BRIDGE

The Arlington Heights Study Club held its 14th annual scholarship bridge Tuesday to raise $100 to give to a deserving high school student for further education.

The bridge, with about 35 tables, was held at the Park Avenue Parish house. For prizes hand-made kitchen cord holders were given.

Credit for the success of this year's undertaking goes to every club member, as each one helped in some way.

NO COASTING ON QUINCY ST. SAY SELECTMEN

The Board of Selectmen Monday evening gave careful consideration to a petition signed by residents of Quincy street asking that coasting be permitted on that street from Farmer road to Massachusetts avenue, and then said "No." They made this decision because the steepness of the street, its proximity to Massachusetts avenue and the fact that there is a filling station on the avenue at either corner make it, they thought, particularly dangerous for children.

AUTO AND BUS COLLIDE ON FOREST STREET

Late Monday afternoon an automobile operated by William C. Balson of 205 Forest street, was in collision with a bus owned by the Lovell Bus Line, Inc., of Maynard, and operated by George T. Mantor of 424 Massachusetts avenue. The following passengers on the bus were slightly injured: Florence Jones, 10, of 1947 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington, left knee injured; Mary Keho, 30, of 20 Cypress street, thrown to the floor and shaken up; Mrs. Robert Sturtevant, 60, of 1 Oakland street, Lexington, left shoulder injured.

LAYMEN'S LEAGUE BANQUET POSTPONED

The banquet of the Laymen's League of the First Parish, scheduled for Monday, January 31, has been postponed on account of the "What-Not" Auction which the Alliance is holding in the church vestry on that day.

The Laymen's Banquet will be held on Monday, February 14, with Rev. Laurence L. Barber giving his illustrated lecture on "The Beauties of Massachusetts."

Health Association Has Annual Meeting Here

Dr. Harold D. Chope, Director of Public Health, Newton, spoke on "Modern Community Health Planning" at the Annual Meeting of the Southern Middlesex Health Association held Tuesday evening in the Robbins Library Hall. Principal John O. Matthews of Junior High Center was elected assistant treasurer.

HAROLD N. ANDERSON QUALIFIED CANDIDATE

The people of Arlington are very much interested in the candidacy of Harold N. Anderson for a place on the Board of Selectmen.

Mr. Anderson, who is the present chairman of the Finance Committee, was born in Arlington and received his public school education in the schools of the town. After graduating from Northeastern University, where he majored in economics and accounting, he passed the State C. P. A. examinations and is now rated as a Certified Public Accountant, which is known to be no mean accomplishment. Following his certification, Mr. Anderson went into business on his own account and now directs the accounting activities of one of the largest textile manufacturing enterprises in the country.

In addition to this work which brings him into direct and intimate contact with an active and well-run commercial establishment, he oversees tax and accounting work for several other mercantile companies, service corporations and railroads.

His professional activities make him an ideal candidate for the position which he seeks and the Town is fortunate indeed that a busy man of Mr. Anderson's training and experience is sufficiently interested to give of his time and knowledge to its service.

TALK ON WORLD AFFAIRS IN FIRST PARISH VESTRY

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor in another "Talk on World Affairs" Wednesday morning in the vestry of the First Parish Church, began her lecture with a discussion of the President's recent actions. She spoke about his dealings with big business and rebuked the Republicans for failing to give Roosevelt effective opposition.

In regard to American and Japanese relations, Mrs. Taylor mentioned United States ships visiting Britain's new docks in Shanghai. She said that this country had not raised the tariff rates for the Philippines. Central Europe is quiet at this time. England lists her main interests as the Far East, the Mediterranean, and thirdly, continental Europe. France, on the other hand, gives central Europe (Germany) first place, the Mediterranean second because of her rich possessions in North Africa, and then the Far East. England is making an effort to have France make concessions to Germany in order to assure safety on the Rhine for Europe. England would then be free to confine her attention on the Pacific.

In conclusion, Mrs. Taylor briefly spoke about France's troubles and cautioned the audience not to believe too much of the news from Romania.

BRIGHT STARS IN WELLESLEY CAST SAYS DRAMA CRITIC

good as Margaret Fairfield, the wife about whom the struggle centered; Harry Lee Grubbs as Hilary Fairfield, her husband who returns after fifteen years in an insane asylum to find himself divorced and his wife engaged to another man; and Barbara Ketchum as Sydney Fairfield, their daughter, who believing that she has the same mental taint as her father decides to stick with him.

Restrained Emotion

Miss Osgood's performance was distinguished by the restraint with which she indicated a great force of emotion. She need not, said the critic, take a back seat to Margo—like Margo, she made effective use of an expressive back.

Mr. Grubbs was remembered for his performance in Wellesley's last year offering, "The Bad Man." In that show he was head and shoulders above the rest of the cast. This year he was quite as good in his part which was that played in the movies by John Barrymore.

Miss Ketchum was supposed to be seventeen and she didn't look a day over that charming age. In spite of her seeming youth she managed to give the effect of mental sophistication that was required of her. She was perfectly cast for the part—the one in which Katharine Hepburn made her movie debut.

The others were Florence E. Johnson as Miss Hester Fairchild, Marjorie Taylor as Bassett; Frederick W. Boswell as Gray Meredith, Mrs. Fairfield's fiancé; Allan Stevenson as Kit Humphrey; Harold Trefethen as Dr. Elliot, and Robert F. Cahill as the Rev. Christopher Pumphrey.

Stage and Properties

The stage, properties, and make-up were in charge of members of the Friends. Katherine Hart headed the stage committee, with Paul Penny, James Snow, Russell Hamlet, David Kennedy, Perry Chandler, Elliott Hanna, Charles Proctor, William Carr and Malcolm Stewart as her helpers. Stage manager William Carr was away while the set was being made but was back in time to take charge of the performance.

Credit for the properties, which so beautifully dressed the stage, goes to Gertrude Lemon and her assistants—Gladys Stevens, Grace Whitney, and Margaret Hall. In charge of the make-up were Anne Kennedy, Virginia Winner, Lillian Snow, Miriam Cahalin, and Brenton Roberts.

There were good houses on both evenings.

MRS. ALSEN HOSTESS AT KITCHEN SHOWER

Friends and members of the families gathered last evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Alsen, Marion road, where a surprise kitchen shower was given Miss Josephine Smith of Burlington. Miss Smith, who is engaged to Richard Danskin of Oakland avenue, was the recipient of many attractive gifts. The decorations were in red.

Bridge was enjoyed by the group, who came from Burlington, Woburn and Melrose. Miss Barbara Danskin of Oakland avenue assisted her sister in serving delicious refreshments at the conclusion of the playing. Miss Smith and Mr. Danskin plan to be married in July.
